WOLF PICTURED ON STAMPS.

112,000,000 TO BE PRINTED HERE FOR TURKEY.

The picture of a wolf will decorate some of the 112,000,000 postage stamps which are about to be printed in England for the Turkish Republic.

Sami Bey, the famous Turkish artist who has come to England to superintend the printing of the stamps, has done five designs, and the one he likes best depicts the legendary Boscourt and his wolf.

Boscourt, according to ancient legend was a mountain blacksmith of great strength and valour, and he directed the wandering Turkish tribes who had lost their way and were starving in the hills.

"My picture," said Sami Bey to a "Daily Express" representative, "shows Boscourt standing by his anvil, and at his feet is his pet wolf."

"One of the stamps will bear the head of Mustapha Kemal, the President of the Turkish Republic."

"Has Mustapha Kemal's recent divorce affected his political popularity? Sami Bey was asked.

Read Good Books

More people should know the delight of good books.

The taste for them, like the gift of Aladdin's lamp, puts a magic world at their command. They share in adventure and romance, sail the seven seas, and pass the guarded gateways of the great ones of the earth.

Lord Macaulay said "I would rather be a poor man in a garret with plenty of books than a king who did not love reading."

R. L. Stevenson said "The most influential books and the truest in their influence are works of fiction . . . They clarify the lessons of life; they disengage us from ourselves."

John Ruskin said "To be without books of your own is the abyss of penury. Don't endure it."

No home can hold too many good books—they become more cherished with the passing of time.
