Dear Sir:

Your interesting letter of the 7th inst came duly to hand; I appreciate the honour you confer on me in the invitation to collaborate with you in certain respects, but I regret that a commercial enterprise in which I am engaged, is absorbing the whole of my time.

I have of course read your letter with great interest, I shall keep it and give it the study it deserves as soon as I get an opportunity.

I am acting on your suggestion, and sending a copy of my pamphlet to every member of the "Accademia pro Interlingua": I have enough for the purpose already printed.

With best respects and kind regards

I am, Sir,

Yours faithfully
Adam Miller.
