Dear Miss Pankhurst:

At the request of Mr. Edmund F. Muller, we are sending you his letter addressed to you and a manuscript which he thinks you would like to see. We know nothing of Mr. Muller, but the State Hospital at Central Islip, Long Island, New York, is for the insane. However, the man's mind is apparently perfectly clear so far as his work is concerned and furthermore, the writer has a friend in the Kings County Hospital for the insane who was brought there only because he had a stroke of paralysis which temporarily benumbed his mind. He is fully recovered and is retained at the Hospital only because he is an old man and has not enough income now to support himself completely living alone. This old man is perfectly sane and it is quite possible that the author of this manuscript is equally sane.

The author obviously appeals to you as an authority who might be interested in his work and might give him some advice about it. If you feel that you would rather not be bothered with it, would you kindly return it to us.

Very truly yours,

E. P. DUTTON & COMPANY
