Mr. Ing. G. Canesi,
via Costigliole I,
Torino 105,
Italy.

My dear Mr. Canesi:

On my recent return from Europe, your letter of 18 August came to my attention. On September 22, IALA sent a draft for $2.50 to Accademia pro Interlingua, Via E. Pagliano 46, Milano, 137, Italy, in payment of the ten copies of Professor Peano's work "Interlingua", mentioned in your first paragraph.

We thank you for the interesting postal card. IALA has always entertained the most cordial sentiment towards Accademia pro Interlingua. It is not, however, possible to give any pecuniary aid. IALA has no organ of its own and does not see its way clear either to starting one or to taking over Schola et Vita or, indeed, any other existing publication. We admire the spirit and dignity of Schola et Vita and are glad to subscribe for it for our library.

I am glad to place with you my personal order for two copies of Vocabulario Comune de Professor Peano. Kindly send the copies and the bill to me at my home address, 19 East 70th Street, New York.

With cordial greetings,

Sincerely yours,

Alvin V. Morris
Mrs. Dave H. Morris
